

Queen Bees

The Life of a Honey bee

The Queen lays eggs. 1,500 per day

The workers help and care for the queen.

The bees groom and feed the queen.

The Queen is longer and fatter than any other bee in the beehive. Queens can not live long. Queen bees can live up to five years.

- Before a queen lays eggs, it must mate with one or more honey bees.

- Queens can lay up to 1,500 eggs a day.

- Queen checks for clear cells.

- Eggs hatch after 3 days.

- Queens sting other queen bees only.

Honey Bees

Queen Bees

- ~~queen~~ mates drone.
- ~~queen~~ lays eggs in wax caps.

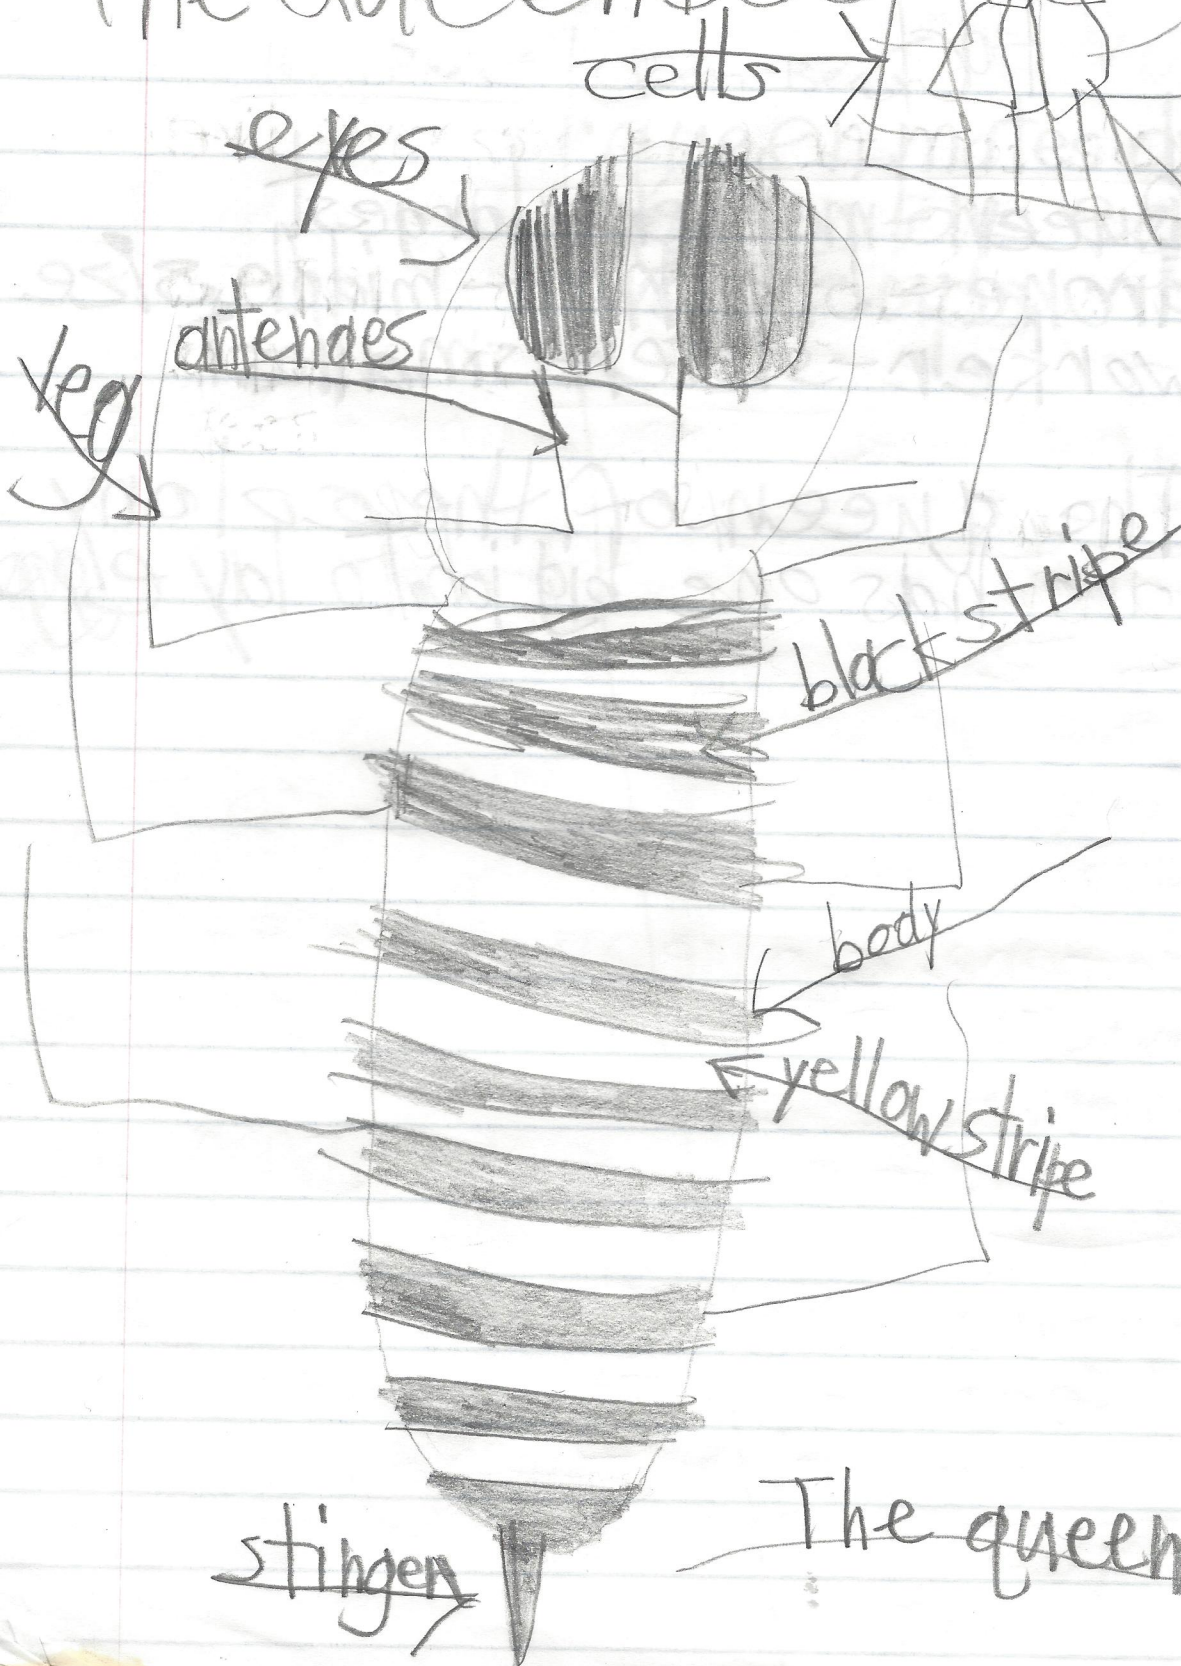

Facts

Queen - mother - largest drone - brother - middle size worker - sister - smallest

The queen of the colony has one big job to lay eggs.

scientific drawing

The Queen Bee

Facts about a beehive and bees

- The queen bee makes the other bees.
- First, the egg turns into a larva, and then into a pupa.
- One of the pupa is called a prepupa.

CVS®

COMPOSITION

Katja Wallner

Science

100 Sheets • 200 Pages
9¾ IN x 7½ IN (24.7 cm x 19 cm)
Wide Ruled