

The walking dead is a very good television programme. It is very popular worldwide. There has been 7 seasons however, season 7 is still showing on tv. The walking dead, shows every week on fox at 9pm. It's about a group of survivors who are still alive during a zombie outbreak, they have lost friends but have made some along the way. Recently, during season 7, something really sad and unexpected happened with some of the survivors. The show is based in Atlanta and Georgia. Throughout the 7 seasons, the survivors have lived in many different places. If you haven't seen the series before, I advise you to watch it however, to really understand what is going on you have to watch series 1 to series 7.

