King of Light

Name: Asterios

Looks: tall, strongly built, bright-blue eyes, somehow beaming from within; long silver hair, wearing a golden coat, a sparkling headband around his forehead; emanating all benignity and love for all creatures; soft but strong baritone voice; great singer!

Magic symbol: harp

Guardian animal: winged horse

Daily routine: day starts with the spell to worship the sun and all light; after breakfast, he will listen to his kingdom's subjects, in order to keep up peace and joy; travelling throughout the country to spread all kinds of light: joy, love, happiness; to plant the seeds of bliss and harmony in his people; at the beginning twilight he sings all lights to rest until the next morning; his wife invokes the gentle lights of the moon and the stars

Family: married to Luan, sister of the Moon; no children; king since the beginning of time; lives on top of the Great Mountains, in a palace made of glass (from the distance it looks like a big star that has fallen to the Earth)

Spell: Your heart- a pot of blissful light

Beaming strongly throughout all fights

Your power lies in the art of Love

Never forget, you're protected from above.

Magic potion:

- 15 drops of winter morning dew
- A sunray of summer solstice
- The wings of a dragonfly
- Three drops of dandelion's nectar
- Stir gently for about two hours
- Fill into tiny little bottles of crystal glass
- Put it on a windowsill in a full-moon-night, expose it to the moonlight for 222 minutes
