

Technical Museum trip

I enjoyed the 10 minute long machine that used water energy to work and i also enjoyed using the human wheel. That because of the wheel moving which is force it makes energy which for me is cool but i am not sure how it makes the energy out of the force.

i learned that energy can be made of heat and that force helps alot for producing energy which humans need for alot of things such as: l-pads, computers ,machines ,light ETC.

I wonder how heat is made into energy.
