

Map of my house

This is a map of my house. I don't live in an apartment. This was part of our HL (Home Learning). It was fun but I had to make another one because my dad told me to make one paper for each floor. And when the home work was due we presented it at our groups. I learned how to use features like a grid or legend/key and scale. The grid was important because it tells you where things are like D8 is a couch. And key is important because it tells you the object.
