

We may not be able to prepare the future for our children, but we can at least prepare our children for the future.

Benjamin Franklin

21st century citizens need to

- solve complex problems in real time
- think & work creatively in both digital and nondigital environments to develop unique & useful solutions
- think analytically: comparing, contrasting, evaluating, synthesizing, & applying without instruction or supervision.
- collaborate harmoniously in physical & virtual spaces, with real & virtual partners all around the world
- communicate not just with text or speech, but in multiple multimedia formats: through video and imagery
- practice personal, global, environmental & online responsibilities, respect other cultures & belief systems

What a challenge!

It takes a village to raise a child.

What a challenge!

Today it actually takes the global village to raise a child.
